New Deal Officials Tap Each Other's Telephone Wires in Wide 'Espionage'

WASHINGTON—Wire-tapping and tall tales of espionage among Government bureaus used to bring smiles of incredulity. They don't any longer.

Under the New Deal there is probably more espionage than at anytime since war days; perhaps even more—of a different nature—than there was then.

For New Deal espionage is chiefly intra-New Deal—different Government officials spying on each other.

Most recent circumstantial evidence of espionage is in the office of little Chester Davis, now supreme in the AAA. Not long ago he acquired a "recording machine". This is an instrument that can be attached to anyone's telephone wire at the switchboard, where it records all conversations on any one line.

Just what use Chester made of the machine is not known.

But when he called in Victor A. Christgau, his assistant administrator, to notify him of his dismissal, Chester cited as the reason certain conversations Christgau had had with the AAA rebels.

The other day a caller entered the office of a high-placed executive of the AAA and began to talk.

"Sh-h!" sounded the executive, making motions vigorously. Then he whispered, "There're things fixed up on the walls around here that we don't know anything about."

Awkward Moment

Secretary Perkins had an awkward moment during dedication ceremonies for the new Labor Department building.

She was reading a number of congratulatory messages. One of them from the band of the United Mine Workers Union which furnished the music.

The bandmen explained that they had come from West Virginia to play at the ceremonies as a tribute to Madame Secretary, her assistant, Edward F. McGrady and "that grand old man, General Hugh Johnson."

Miss Perkins obviously had not seen the letter before. In several of his magazine articles Johnson had sharply criticized Miss Perkins.

But she didn't falter when she came to Johnson's name.

She read the letter through without a hitch.

Single Factor

Underlying the Senate-White House duel over the work-relief bill was just one factor.

The President did not want to go on record as vetoing a measure containing a provision protecting wage levels. That is the whole story.

With labor in a fighting mood over the auto code renewal, with the Progressives disgruntled over his recent rightward trend, and with Huey Long ready to pounce at the slightest opening, the President could not afford to turn thumbs down on the McCarran amendment.

That was the reason why Democratic floor leaders resorted to the unusual recourse of bolting the bill back to committee after the Senate had approved the McCarran provision by the hair-line margin of one vote.

Ordinarily an amendment adopted by so close a count is allowed to go to conference where it is practically certain of elimination.

But the Administration did not dare to take a chance on the issue in the House.

After the independent attitude displayed by the Senate it was a safe bet that if the House received a chance to vote on the amendment it would have approved it also.

Not daring to risk this hazard, Administration masterminds con-

ORGANIZATION OF RETAILERS FAVORED HERE

C. E. Dittmer, of Ohio Retail Council, Cites Advantages of Move FORMED IN C. OF C.

Talks of Sales Tax. Davey's Efforts

Advantages to be obtained through operation of a retail merchants' organization were outlined Tuesday evening by C. E. Dittmer, of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, appearing before the Chamber of Commerce at the American Hotel Coffee shop. K. J. Herrmann, president, was in charge of the meeting which was attended by about 40.

The speaker urged organization of a retailers' association within the Chamber of Commerce. Co-operation, consolidated effort and good spirit were stressed.

Mr. Dittmer started his address by calling attention to the peculiar competitive situation here. "The fact that Columbus is so near," he said, "makes your situation somewhat peculiar. Your competition is with the big city store and not so much with the merchant in your own city."

Some Advantages Cited

Some of the advantages to be obtained through organization, Mr. Dittmer said, were:

1. Organization of a credit exchange information bureau.
2. An advertising and donations agreement to forestall much of the questionable advertising for programs and other such things. A committee on advertising and donations would be set up and no merchant co-operating would subscribe unless the plan had the approval of the committee.
3. Holiday closing agreement.
4. Co-operative promotions such as Dollar Day, Bargain day, fall and spring openings, jubilees, father's, mother's days. In all co-operative promotions, he said, it

MAY OPERATE CAC FOR BOYS

Chamber of Commerce Recommends Reorganization; Committees Named

Recommendation that the Circleville Athletic club, E. Main-st., be reorganized so it will be available for use of boys as young as nine years has been made to the CAC by a committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce.

At a meeting several months ago the Chamber of Commerce agreed to do what it could to bring the Athletic club out of the "ditch" in which it finds itself. The recommendation, which was voiced Tuesday evening by James I. Smith, Jr., chairman of the committee, will be discussed sometime this week when the Chamber of Commerce group and a committee named by Joe Lynch, president of the Athletic club, meet.

On the Athletic club committee are Frank Littleton, chairman; T. D. Krinn and Ben H. Gordon.

The Chamber of Commerce committee includes J. I. Smith, Jr., chairman; Joe Burns, J. D. Hummel, R. L. Brehmer, Mack Parrett, Jr., and Reed Shafer.

Another meeting of the Athletic club has been called for next Tuesday evening to hear the report of its committee.

HOLMES, GREAT LIBERAL, DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Former Justice of Supreme Court Succumbs Quietly at Home

FUNERAL IS FRIDAY

Would Have Reached 94 on That Day

WASHINGTON March 6—Oliver Wendell Holmes, known affectionately as the grand old man of American jurisprudence and as the "great liberal" on the bench of the United States Supreme court, died in his old red-brick home in I street at 2:15 a. m., today after a gallant battle against pneumonia.

He would have been 94 years old on Friday.

Word of his death was not unexpected since it followed a series of doleful bulletins which told of a losing fight.

The kindly old scholar, whose wit and philosophy are to be found in supreme court decisions for three decades, was genuinely popular and beloved in the capital.

Since his retirement from the bench several years ago he had spent his winters here, his summers at Beverly, Mass.

Nephew at Bedside

Around him at the end were only his physicians, nurses, and a single surviving relative, Edward Holmes, a nephew. He had been kept in an oxygen tent for some days, and no visitors allowed to see him, although scores of friends called at the home daily to inquire as to his condition.

"The former justice died more peacefully than anyone I've ever seen," said Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, his chief physician.

News of his death was announced by Mark Howe, his former secretary and close associate who is a son of Mark Anthony Howe, Holmes biographer.

The funeral services will be held Friday (the day Holmes would have been 94) at All Souls Unitarian church here. Because of his service during the Civil war—he was wounded three times—burial

MOTHER, FOUR CHILDREN DIE

Stove Explosion Leaves Only Two In Michigan Family Today

ECORSE, Mich., March 6—A can of gasoline, mistaken for kerosene, may have caused the stove explosion which claimed the lives of a mother and three children, police believed today.

Toll of the tragic blast and fire rose to four today when the mother and a third child succumbed to burns.

The dead are:

Mrs. Albert J. Wisler, 42.

Mildred Wisler, 10.

Winifred, 8.

Robert, 6.

A fourth child, Rosemary, 15, and the father, Albert, 46, were in serious condition from burns suffered in their attempt to rescue the victims. Mrs. Wisler and Mildred died in a hospital.

16 CARS DERAILED

PORTSMOUTH, March 6—Crews of railroad workers labored today to repair a bridge on the Norfolk & Western railroad at Sciotoville, which was damaged when 16 freight cars derailed and piled up. No one was injured.

AGED MAN STRICKEN

Chauncey Cates, 76, of 470 N. Court-st., was taken to Berger hospital Tuesday night in a serious condition. He was found unconscious on W. Main-st. and taken to the hospital by police. He is still unconscious and is thought to have suffered from a cerebral hemorrhage.

DODD'S STORE SAFE LOOTED

More Than $50 Stolen from Store; Window Broken by Hurlled Stone

Robbers perpetrated their fourth robbery in less than a week Tuesday night when they broke into Al Dodd's store, S. Scioto-st., carried away and broke the cash register and looted it of between $50 and $60.

The smashed cash register was found along the railroad tracks Wednesday morning.

The robbers threw a stone through a window to gain admittance to the building. Mr. Dodd was sleeping in an adjoining room but did not hear the glass break.

The loot included three $10 bills and money of smaller denominations.

Other robberies committed recently include Barrere and Nickerson and Davidson hardware and "Dab's" place.

Two youths were arrested by police for questioning but were released later by police.

OHIO LAWYER DIES FRIDAY

Arkansas to Take Life of Shank, Poisoner; Insanity Hearing Sought

LITTLE ROCK Ark. March 6—Deferred four times, the execution of Mark H. Shank, former Akron, Ohio attorney and convicted poisoner has been set for next Friday. It is the fifth date assigned for the execution.

Governor Futrell set the date for the electrocution following the withdrawal by the condemned man's attorney from U. S. district court of a petition asking state officials be compelled to grant a sanity hearing for their client.

Defense attorneys in withdrawing the petition from federal court had announced that they intended to appeal to the U. S. supreme court. W. T. Pate, Jr., of Little Rock, one of the defense lawyers, declared today that he would communicate with Blake C. Cook, an Ohio attorney for Shank, and the condemned man's wife before deciding on a course of action to meet the new development.

The governor in setting the new execution date took the position that Shank in the eighteen months since his conviction in December, 1933 has had ample time to act.

COURAGEOUS GIRL IS RESTING WELL

FALL RIVER, Mass., Mar. 6—Gradually returning strength diminishing pain today marked the second day of the valiant uphill struggle of ten-year-old Alyce Jane McHenry to recover from the operation which corrected her "upside down" stomach.

After another night of rest, the courageous girl from Omaha, Neb., was reported resting comfortably at Tuesdale hospital today, her heart beating out a slower but steadier and stronger pulse, and her temperature declining towards normal.

GAS COMPANY MAY ASK NEW RATE TONIGHT

New Ordinance Presented at Chillicothe Asks Increase of Cent

EXPECT SAME HERE

Council's Regular Session is This Evening

Indications were today that the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. would demand of the city an increased rate at its meeting this evening or in two weeks. An ordinance increasing the rate from an average of 73 cents per thousand cubic feet to slightly more than 74 cents was offered Chillicothe council Monday and since the local rate has always been parallel with that in the Ross-co city local officials believe the gas company is ready to make a similar offer here.

Engineers reporting recently after an investigation of the Chillicothe rate said the gas company deserved a higher rate in that city. The survey cost the city $2600, half of which has already been paid.

Asked Other Places

The utility is planning to put a similar rate into operation at Jackson, McArthur, Oak Hill, Coalton, Hamden and Wellston.

The proposed rate for Chillicothe is based on "hundreds" instead of on "thousands" and is as follows: 20 cents per 100 cu. ft. for the first 500 cu. ft.; 7 cents per 100 for the next 1,500; 6 cents per 100 for the next 3,000; 5 1/2 cents per 100 for the next 195,000; and 5 cents per 100 for all over 200,000 cu. ft. The minimum bill to be $1 per month. The present rate is $1 for the first 500 cu. ft., the same as the first step in the above rate, but after

NOTE DEMANDS RANSOM MONEY

GRAND RAPIDS, Mar. 6—Grand Rapids police were mobilized today to search for 18-year-old Helen Jean Bannings, daughter of a wealthy retired insurance man, after a ransom note was delivered to her home this morning.

The girl has been missing since last night when she went to visit friends. She did not arrive at the home of her friends, however, police learned.

A note, typewritten on plain paper, stuck in the mail box of the Bannings home, was found by the girl's father, Bert, shortly after midnight.

"Tho Thorry"

Norma Dean Frederick

Norma Dean Frederick, two-and-one-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Frederick of Kansas City, Mo., told the photographer she was "tho thorry" she had shot her sister, Shirley, age four, while playing in the bedroom of their home when Norma found a small caliber pistol. The picture graphically records the child's feelings. Physicians said Shirley will recover.

DEATH STRIKES FAMILY TWICE

Whisler Man, Grieving, Succumbs 20 Hours After Wife at Whisler

Death had struck the Gardner family of Whisler twice in less than a day's time, Wednesday, when Ovid L. Gardner, 79, well known resident of that vicinity, died at noon 20 hours after his wife, Luella B. Gardner, 76, passed away.

Mrs. Gardner died at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday of pneumonia.

Grief was a contributing cause in the husband's demise.

Mrs. Gardner was a daughter of William and Sophia Bookwalter Frederick and was born March 9, 1858.

Four children, Fred of Columbus, Grace, Fannie and Marvin at home survive.

Funeral services for the wife will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Whisler Presbyterian church with Rev. Foster of Kingston officiating. Interment will be in charge of H. E. Defenbaugh and Sons.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL PROJECT DELAYED

Contemplated improvements at the Ashville high school building, an FERA project, which was to have started Monday, has been temporarily held up.

All requirements have been met by the school board, plans drawn and blue prints prepared by B. L. Davidson, who did considerable of this class of work for the Cleveland schools, where he was employed before locating in Ashville several years ago.

The work as contemplated includes digging a basement for storage under the manual training room, also shower baths and the inside painting and decorating of the rooms of the building. The funds for material to be furnished by the school board and the labor will be taken care of by the FERA.

Pending an adjustment of the relief situation between State and Federal authorities, this with other similar projects, has been indefinitely postponed. This work, when started will take care of many on relief who so far have been unable to secure a place on the PWA projects now in operation.

SKELTON FOUND, MAY BE TEACHER

YOUNGSTOWN, March 6—A skeleton, apparently that of a young woman, which was found jack-knifed in a shallow grave in a lonely gully near Lowellville, today presented county authorities with a baffling mystery that may go back to five years ago when a Lowellville biology teacher dropped from sight while on a field trip.

The skeleton was discovered in a hillside gully yesterday by Joe Melillo of Hillsville, and his father-in-law, John Guerrieri of Lowellville, as they were scouting through the gully preparing to build a pig-pen in the vicinity.

Temperature Tuesday reached nearly a summer mark. It climbed to 73 degrees in the afternoon.

HOPKINS RAPS DAVEY'S PLEA; MOVE AWAITED

Federal Chief Refuses to Relieve State of Relief Burden

HITS STATEMENTS

Political Move is Word From Capital

COLUMBUS, March 6—The problem of administering relief to 1,200,000 indigent residents of Ohio today came back to Governor Davey's own doorstep, the federal government having refused to relieve the state of the responsibility as urged by the governor.

Capital observers waited anxiously for some indication from Davey as to what his next step will be. He left the broad implication in his letter to Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, that new taxes will be necessary to make up a 15 million dollars state relief deficit unless that amount can be saved elsewhere.

Reserves Comment

Soon after Hopkins roundly criticized the governor in Washington for attempting to saddle the entire relief load of one of the most prosperous states upon the federal government, Davey was reached in a downtown hotel but reserved comment until after receiving word direct from Washington.

Meanwhile, the Senate apathetically watched in amused silence the skirmish between Davey and Hopkins. There was no indication when the upper branch of the legislature will again consider the Anderson bill to extend the life of the old state relief commission, which passed out of existence the first of March when passage of the bill was blocked momentarily.

Hopkins minced no words in lashing back at Davey for his criticism of "red tape and inefficiency" in the federal relief policies. He resented Davey making public the letter here 12 hours before it was received in Washington.

The federal administrator said Davey had put Ohio in the position of being the only state to "come here and say we are not going to do anything for our unemployed."

He said "the governor doesn't know what he is talking about" in attacking the Cleveland relief organization. This unit, Hopkins contended, was one of the most effective in the country.

"His letter is an outrageous indictment against the thousands of people who are conscientiously administering relief in Ohio, many of them voluntarily giving their time," he commented.

"I do not believe the governor's opinion of these Ohioans is representative of the great mass of residents of that state."

Time on Reports

Hopkins said "it looks like the governor wants us to send out money without adequate investigation," commenting upon the Davey assertion that Cleveland relief workers spend half their time making out reports.

The administrator keenly resented the Davey inference that much within the relief organization is done without his knowledge. "It's not so," he scoffed.

As for Davey's "thorough knowledge" of conditions among those on relief in Ohio, Hopkins pointed out that it was gathered "while campaigning for votes, not while touring the state in the interest of relief."

Teach the children early in life to love flowers and to take care of them.

Spare the wild flowers. Let them grow where nature placed them. They are very shy and don't like to be transplanted.

Plan your garden now. Have you hardy perennials? Arrange some annuals, then there are biennials, which should have a place. Do you want bright colors, sweet odors, flowers suitable for house decorations? Do you want a border, early flowers, mid-season plants, late flowers? There should be a succession if you have room. If you are limited in space the choice should be more carefully made. Don't neglect the old-fashioned flowers our grandmothers loved, iris, fox, bleeding heart, garden heliotrope, four-o'clocks, bachelor's button and many others.

There are so many beautiful hardy perennials which, once started, repay a hundred fold a little attention. Then there are those flowers, which dried, may be formed into winter bouquets. A few zinnias will give you pleasure for a long time. Their color are brilliant and the flowers when cut last a long time.

Strangers driving through a town are attracted by flowers and shrubbery in the yard. Vines grow rapidly and cover unsightly buildings or any object that is unpleasing.

Nothing repays a little effort more liberally than a garden be it only a small one.

Put the children to work. Most

PATTERN 5315

What a new hat and purse can do to lift up one's spirits! This crocheted beret—and the beret continues in popularity—is one that is within the reach of even the beginner in crochet. The ribs, that form the decoration, add a very smart note as well as giving variety. It is done entirely in one color and is especially lovely in a silk mixed yarn or string. The purse matches it—you could add your initials in the center. This set would give a smart note to your Easter costume and be something that you could wear right through summer.

In pattern 5315 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of the stitches needed; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Arts Dept., 124 W. Main St., Circleville, O.

CAGE SQUADS PREPARE FOR TOURNAMENTS

Many Favorites to Fall by Wayside In Own District;
No Five Favored

COLUMBUS, March 6—Basketball squads from Class A high schools in Ohio will see tournament play for the first time this week-end with the holding of the sectional meets in a score of cities and their performances will be a forerunner of what cage fadom will see at the statewide finals here March 21, 22 and 23.

There are few high schools with outstanding records this season but uniquely that may be due to the fact that there are a bunch of unusually strong quintets in the state. Either that or the teams are unusually weak.

Dayton Roosevelt is the defending Class A champion but there is a great possibility that it may not even survive the sectional meet this week-end. It has experienced a lot of defeats this year at the hands of only comparatively strong caliber.

Offhand some of the stronger Class A teams picked at random, seem to be Logan, Pomeroy, St. Clairsville, Coshocton, Dover, Canton McKinley, Alliance, Akron Central and Akron South, Defiance, Marion, Salem, Sandusky, Fremont, Ross and Bellefontaine. Some of the schools mentioned, like Logan and Pomeroy, and Coshocton and Dover are in the same districts and will be eliminated before the finals.

Large high schools from Columbus, Youngstown, Cincinnati and Cleveland also must be figured in the race.

BALDWIN-WALLACE WINS STATE TITLE

CLEVELAND, March 6—Ward Powell, one of the nation's leading scorers, and his yellow-jacketed teammates of Baldwin-Wallace, sat atop the Ohio conference basketball throne today.

A 50 to 34 victory over John Carroll last night, combined with Mount Union's surprise 52 to 32 walloping of Muskingum, pretender to the throne, gave the Yellow Jackets undisputed possession of the league championship.

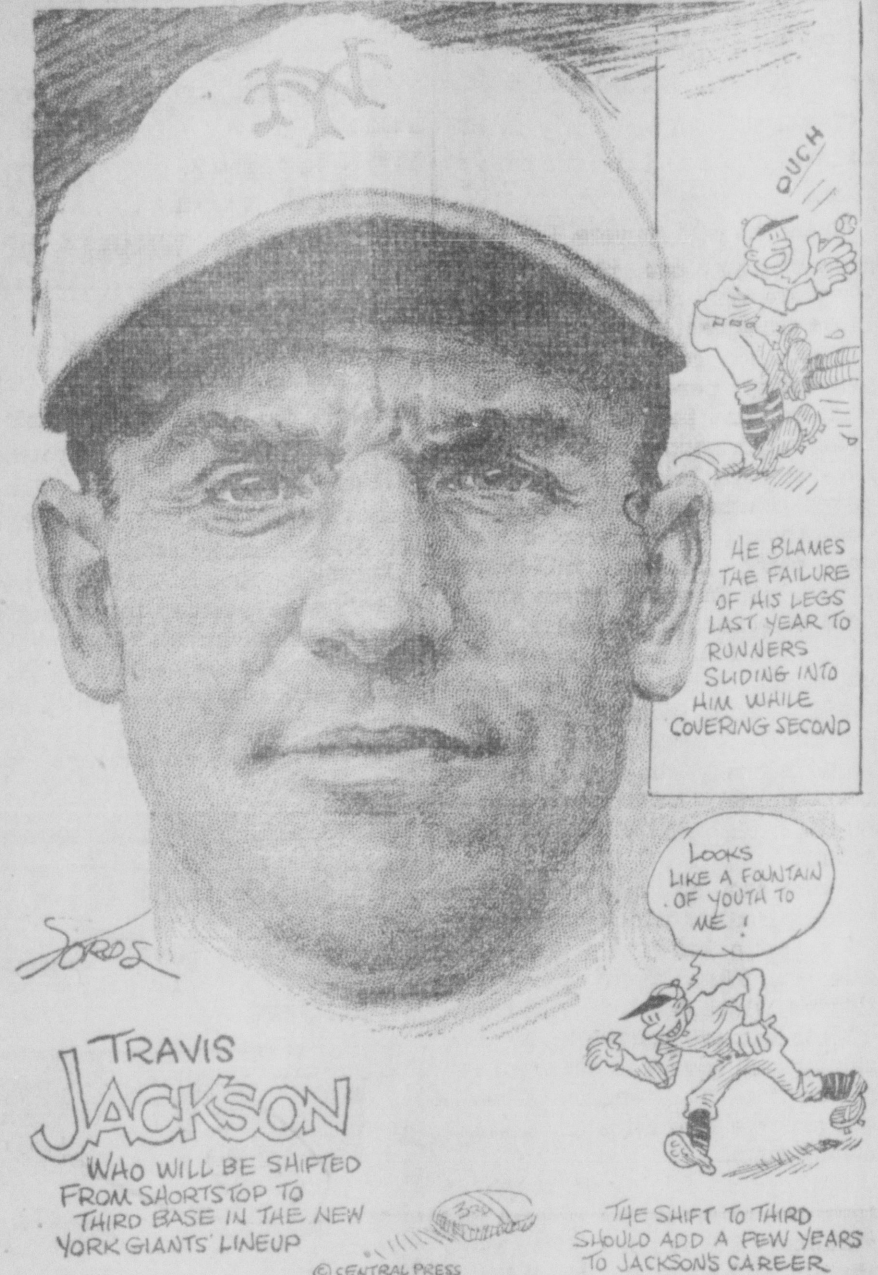

Paced, as usual, by Powell, the Jackets rode a 24 to 17 lead at the half. They were never threatened during the final period. Powell netted 16 points to end the season with a record of 282 markers.

The victory gave Baldwin-Wallace a season record of nine wins and two losses for an average of .818. Muskingum, Akron and Marietta tied for second place with .800.

The title is Baldwin-Wallace's second championship in two years. Last season the Jackets won the Cleveland big four title.

Almost a third of the students enrolled in the colleges of agriculture and home economics in the 13 central states are former members of 4-H clubs. This proportion is almost four times as great as it was eight years ago.

County Plan Arranged

A plan to schedule all the Pickaway-co basketball teams so that each will play every other team during the next cage season was approved by the athletic committee Tuesday evening meeting in Supt. McDowell's office. . . . On the committee are Mr. McDowell, Harold Costlow of Atlanta, John Barton of Scioto, and Ray Sponsler of Walnut. . . .

Herald Gives Trophy

No award to the team finishing in first place at the end of the regular season is planned but The Herald will give a trophy to be held for one year by the top team. . . . By being on top the league three consecutive years a school will retain permanent possession. . . . The offer was accepted by the committee. Although definite plans were arranged at the Tuesday meeting it will be necessary to have the approval of all superintendent of the county before it can be put in operation. . . .

DIXIE HOWELL TO JOIN DETROIT NINE

LAKELAND, Fla., March 6—The Detroit Tiger camp was all agog today awaiting the arrival of Millard (Dixie) Howell, sensational University of Alabama footballer, who yesterday signed a contract with the Tigers. Howell is due in sometime late today.

In the meantime, the pitchers and catchers in camp are in such good condition that a four inning practice game was played yesterday. It ended in a tie, with Manager Cochrane scoring the tying run in the third inning on Cy Perkins' double.

THREE COUNTY TEAMS PAIRED IN DISTRICT B

Meet Marion-Co Team, Rose-dale and Claridon at Westerville

The strength of teams paired against the Pickaway-co entrants in the district class B tournament is not known.

The championship Darby-two team will tangle with the No. 3 representative of Marion-co, its identity not yet announced.

Scioto-two, the runner-up, will face Rosedale, while Walnut-two meets Claridon.

Other teams in the district are Johnstown, Liberty Union, Grovesport, Ohio Deaf, Watkins, two Delaware-co teams, three Marion-co teams, Ostrander, Raymond, two Knox-co schools, Lancaster St. Marys, Monroe-two Madison-co, Pataskala, Upper Arlington, Thurston, Magnetic Springs, Reynoldsburg, Hilliards.

The tournament opens at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the Otterbein college gym, Westerville.

One of the most interesting tournaments of the state is conducted at Athens with Portsmouth, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Chillicothe, Washington C. H., Athens, Logan, Nelsonville and other teams taking part. The pairings have not yet been announced.

Chillicothe closes its season Friday at home against the strong Marietta team.

ceived the strategy of sending the bill back to committee in the hope that the country would rush to the President's support. They expected the Senate to be deluged with rebuking messages forcing it to reverse itself.

It was a neat maneuver—except for one thing.

The country did not rise to the President's support.

Senators received some telegrams and a small amount of mail, but sentiment was split about fifty-fifty.

An example of this significant public indifference is what happened to Senator Bill Borah, one of the strong supporters of the McCarran amendment.

Following the Senate vote, Representative D. Worth Clark, Idaho Democrat, telegraphed a statement to Idaho newspapers assailing Borah for imperiling the work-relief program. He called on Idahoans to rally to the President's side and demand of Borah that he change his stand.

Borah received two telegrams—one urging him to vote against the work-relief plan in favor of the dote, and the other commending him for his position on the McCarran amendment.

Treaty Courage
In his reciprocity treaty with Belgium, Cordell Hull accomplished something at which the Tariff Commission had failed, despite years of effort.

The duties on cement and certain kinds of glass had been considered exorbitant, even by a Tariff Commission which leaned backwards in favor of high tariffs.

But the power of lobbies was too great.

Even when the supposedly low-tariff Roosevelt Administration came into power, and even after the Tariff Commission had unanimously recommended a 50 per cent reduction on Pittsburgh glass, the lobbies were victorious.

They stepped in at the White House and circumvented the Tariff Commission's report. Roosevelt, for some reason never explained, sided with the Mellons, the Reeds and other supporters of Pittsburgh glass.

Now Hull, faithful to his tariff policy, has accomplished the hitherto impossible.

Merry-Go-Round
Former Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was sick for three days before the public knew about it. At his bedside from the very first was Felix Frankfurter of the Harvard Law School, long a worshiper at the Holmes shrine. . . . One of the first callers on the venerable jurist was Mrs. Roosevelt. She parked double in front of his house, leaving Louey Howe in the car. No secret service agent accompanied her and she drove the car, as usual, herself. . . . Justice Holmes grumbled frequently at modern lack of virility of American men. His chief delight during the Civil War—according to what he said later—was "those whopping big champagne cocktails they gave you before breakfast." He claimed that Ernest Hemingway was not really a red-blooded novelist.

PAROCHIAL AID IS FAVORED IN STATE SENATE

Advocates Face Harder Fight In House; Plan Trading System

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Sensing victory in the state senate, proponents of the parochial school bill today turned to Ohio colleges for aid in marshalling enough votes in the house of representatives to pass the measure before the legislature adjourns this spring.

Sen. John A. Davis (D) of Cleveland, author of the measure, today predicted the bill would be passed by the senate by a "comfortable margin." He said proponents of the bill have the assurance of 19 or 20 votes of the 32 members of the senate.

Unless 16 more votes can be found in the house, however, the measure has little chance of becoming a law, Sen. Davis admitted. He claimed approximately 52 house votes. There are 134 members of the house and 68 are needed to pass the bill if all are present.

Many executives of colleges in Ohio are in favor of the measure, which would provide state aid for free tuition schools and colleges, Davis claims, but in spite of the public stand taken against the proposal.

Davis bill, which is to be considered by senate finance committee, would provide $3,000,000 for aid to parochial and other free tuition schools and $2,000,000 for aid to Ohio colleges not at present aided by the state.

Pointing out that many colleges in the state are confronted with serious financial difficulties, Davis contends that his bill, said to be an administration measure, would give the state department of education power to distribute up to $50 per student among colleges.

PROCLAMATION BY MAYOR CADY

The Federal Housing Administration has designated March as Better Housing Month in Ohio.

Sectional rallies will be held at which Ohioans will be afforded an opportunity to assemble with their neighbors in various groups of thorough this County and City and manifest their interest in hastening economic recovery through operation of the National Housing Act.

Major purposes of this credit legislation enacted by Congress include: Making available liberal financing plans for modernization of existing homes and other buildings or construction of new ones. Creating a demand for labor and materials that will substitute payrolls for relief.

Turning a huge volume of money into all channels of trade so it may spread prosperity among all our communities.

Therefore I deem it proper to approve by proclamation the co-operative undertaking to which Better Housing Month Summons us.

In doing so I urge my fellow citizens of the City of Circleville, to attend all the Housing meetings that will be held in this City or nearby localities participate.

Also avail yourselves of the credit provisions of the National Housing Act if circumstances will permit you to do so.

Invest in "proper" modernization or new construction by utilizing cash reserves if they are at your disposal.

FLORISTS PLAN SPRING SHOW

Columbus Unit Meets at Brehmer's; Many Visitors Take Part

Members of the Columbus unit of the Ohio Flower Growers and Retailers association were entertained at the Brehmer Greenhouses, Tuesday evening.

A meeting was held during which plans for the spring flower show to be held at Memorial hall, Columbus, were discussed.

Thirty-eight members were present and after the meeting, refreshments were served by Hanley's caterers.

In addition to Columbus florists, June Imlay of Zanesville, Frank and Charles Tomastie and Carl Brehmer of Chillicothe, Richard Winters of Delaware and Mr. Rhodes of Westerville were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brehmer, N. Court-st., had as their dinner guests, Tuesday evening, at their home Prof. Alex Laurie, head of the department of floriculture at Ohio State university; G. H. Poesch in charge of extension work in the department of floriculture at Ohio State, and Walter J. Engle, president of The National Chrysanthemum Society of America.

ROBINSON TO HAVE PART ON PROGRAM

WOOSTER, March 6.—John Robinson, 315 S. Pickaway-st., Circleville will have charge of the Biology-Botany department exhibit showing special materials which will be a part of the fifth annual All Science Open House which is expected to bring 600 scholastic visitors to the College of Wooster campus March 9.

Over 130 students are assisting with the exhibits in this department. Other groups are helping demonstrate experiments in physics, geology, and chemistry.

The object of Wooster's All Science Open House is to acquaint high school teachers and students with the methods and practical uses made of scientific experimentation.

Wooster's scholastic visitors will be guests of the college at a luncheon at noon. They will also be given tickets to the Ashland-Wooster basketball game for that evening, the final game of the season for both teams.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 4% of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomato, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you need. 50c-25c. ©1934, J.C.M. Co.

ASSESSMENT ON ADJOINING LAND AT END

Gas Tax Revenue to be Used As Result of House Passing Bill

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Gas tax revenue will be used to relieve adjoining property owners of road assessments in municipalities as well as townships and counties if the Armbruster bill which passed in the House, 106 to 14, is concurred in by the Senate and approved by the governor.

Since 1929 no special assessments have been made for that purpose, but prior levies, in some instances as high as $18 an acre, continue until 1941 unless set aside by the legislature.

Before the bill by Rep. C. C. Armbruster (D) Napoleon, was amended to include levies against city property, it was estimated 28 million dollars would be saved by real estate owners in rural areas. With the amendment in the bill, some members estimated the amount is doubled.

Serial bonds issued prior to 1929 for road building purposes would be refunded under the Armbruster bill the new, bonds to be retired over a period of 15 years from gas tax receipts. No road assessments already paid would be refunded.

SOME 13 BILLION MILES DRIVEN BY OHIOANS IN 1934

The average motor travel of every person in Ohio was approximately 1,900 miles during 1934, it is estimated by the Traffic Bureau of the State Highway Department.

In all, some 13,376,570,396 miles were travelled by Ohio motorists last year. This estimate was based on the 955,469,314 gallons of gasoline sold in the state, with 14 miles to the gallon computed as a fair average.

On the basis of figures showing nearly 2,000 traffic fatalities for the state in 1934, one Ohioan was killed in an automobile accident for approximately every 6,700,000 miles travelled.

The 1,453,438 passenger cars and 159,949 commercial cars registered last year travelled an average of 8,290 miles.

5. To block discount schemes, suit clubs and such other plans.

"There are scores of advantages in a co-operative association formed by retailers," the speaker went on. "The organization should be formed within your Chamber of Commerce."

Discuss Sales Tax

At the conclusion of his talk on the merchants' association, Mr. Dittmer delved into the sales tax problem. The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants fought the sales tax for a long while until it finally became an inevitable necessity after the tax limitation on real estate was cut to 10 mills. Dittmer lauded the sales tax as the best one in operation in the nation from the retail merchant's standpoint.

"Most sales taxes," he declared, "are based on gross sales of the merchant with he in turn being given a chance to get the tax back from his customer in any manner he saw fit. Ohio's plan is a direct one to the consumer."

He lauded the sincerity of Governor Davey in his effort to work out a reduction in governmental expense if at all possible. "It is not even certain the legislature will accept the report of Col. Sherrill and the other investigators," Mr. Dittmer said, "but Mr. Davey deserves praise for attempting to do the right thing."

will be in Arlington cemetery. The honorary pallbearers will be members of the U. S. Supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Mr. Hughes was deeply affected by the death of his former colleague on the bench. He was among the first to call at the I street house Saturday when it became known the former justice was dying but was not permitted to enter the sickroom because of the patient's weakness.

Was Great Jurist

Holmes achieved a reputation as one of the world's greatest jurists largely through the thoughts expressed in his opinions dissenting from the majority of the supreme court.

During his long career on the bench of the nation's highest tribunal, he frequently was in the minority. Yet his dissenting opinions in many of the most important cases reaching the court are accepted almost as text-books by many lawyers, writers and legislators.

Always a champion of liberal interpretation of the Constitution and known as a champion of human rights, Justice Holmes expressed in many conditions a philosophy not often found in expositions on the law.

Born in Boston, March 8, 1841, he was reared in an aristocratic famous Oliver Wendell Holmes, atmosphere. His father was the author and philosopher. He graduated from Harvard in 1861, and with other graduates entered the Union army.

During the Civil war, Justice Holmes became successively Lieutenant and captain, and held brevets as major, lieutenant-colonel and colonel. He was wounded three times, being shot through the breast at Balls Bluff in 1862, through the neck at Antietam and in the heel at Maryes Heights.

Edited Law Review

After the war, he took his law degree at Harvard, published the twelfth edition of Kent's commentaries and was editor of the American law review for three years.

He published his book, "The Common Law," in 1881, which first established his reputation as a lawyer extraordinary. Other books were published before he practised law in Boston from 1873 to 1882.

After a short period as professor in Harvard, he was named justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts in 1882. He served in that post until named to the supreme court by President Theodore Roosevelt. He took his seat, December 8, 1902.

He resigned from the high court January 12, 1932.

At the time of Justice Holmes' appointment to the supreme court, some criticism was voiced because he was 61 years old. The voluntary retirement age is 70. Justice Holmes, however, lived to become not only the oldest man who sat on the court but its senior in service.

New Deal Officials Tap Each Other's Telephone Wires in Wide 'Espionage'

WASHINGTON—Wire-tapping and tall tales of espionage among Government bureaus used to bring smiles of incredulity. They don't any longer.

Under the New Deal there is probably more espionage than at anytime since war days; perhaps even more—of a different nature—than there was then.

For New Deal espionage is chiefly intra-New Deal—different Government officials spying on each other.

Most recent circumstantial evidence of espionage is in the office of little Chester Davis, now supreme in the AAA. Not long ago he acquired a "recording machine". This is an instrument that can be attached to anyone's telephone wire at the switchboard, where it records all conversations on any one line.

Just what use Chester made of the machine is not known.

But when he called in Victor A. Christgau, his assistant administrator, to notify him of his dismissal, Chester cited as the reason certain conversations Christgau had had with the AAA rebels.

The other day a caller, entered the office of a high-placed executive of the AAA and began to talk.

"Sh-h-h!" sounded the executive, making motions vigorously. Then he whispered, "There're things fixed up on the walls around here that we don't know anything about."

Awkward Moment

Secretary Perkins had an awkward moment during dedication ceremonies for the new Labor Department building.

She was reading a number of congratulatory messages. One of them from the hand of the United Mine Workers Union which furnished the music.

The bandmen explained that they had come from West Virginia to play at the ceremonies as a tribute to Madame Secretary, her assistant, Edward F. McGrady and "that grand old man, General Hugh Johnson."

Miss Perkins obviously had not seen the letter before. In several of his magazine articles Johnson had sharply criticized Miss Perkins.

But she didn't falter when she came to Johnson's name.

She read the letter through without a hitch.

Single Factor

Underlying the Senate-White House duel over the work-relief bill was just one factor.

The President did not want to go on record as vetoing a measure containing a provision protecting wage levels. That is the whole story.

With labor in a fighting mood over the auto code renewal, with the Progressives disgruntled over his recent rightward trend, and with Huey Long ready to pounce at the slightest opening, the President could not afford to turn thumbs down on the McCarran amendment.

That was the reason why Democratic floor leaders resorted to the unusual recourse of bolting the bill back to committee after the Senate had approved the McCarran provision by the hair-line margin of one vote.

Ordinarily an amendment adopted by so close a count is allowed to go to conference where it is practically certain of elimination.

But the Administration did not dare to take a chance on the issue in the House.

After the independent attitude displayed by the Senate it was a safe bet that if the House received a chance to vote on the amendment it would have approved it also.

Not daring to risk this hazard, Administration masterminds con-

Talks of Sales Tax, Davey's Efforts

Advantages to be obtained through operation of a retail merchants' organization were outlined Tuesday evening by C. E. Dittmer, of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, appearing before the Chamber of Commerce at the American Hotel Coffee shop. K. J. Herrmann, president, was in charge of the meeting which was attended by about 40.

The speaker urged organization of a retailers' association within the Chamber of Commerce. Co-operation, consolidated effort and good spirit were stressed.

Mr. Dittmer started his address by calling attention to the peculiar competitive situation here. "The fact that Columbus is so near," he said, "makes your situation somewhat peculiar. Your competition is with the big city store and not so much with the merchant in your own city."

Some Advantages Cited

Some of the advantages to be obtained through organization, Mr. Dittmer said, were:

1. Organization of a credit exchange information bureau.
2. An advertising and donations agreement to forestall much of the questionable advertising for programs and other such things. A committee on advertising and donations would be set up and no merchant co-operating would subscribe unless the plan had the approval of the committee.
3. Holiday closing agreement.
4. Co-operative promotions such as Dollar Day, Bargain day, fall and spring openings, jubilees, father's, mother's days. In all co-operative promotions, he said, it

HOLMES, GREAT LIBERAL, DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Former Justice of Supreme Court Succumbs Quietly at Home

FUNERAL IS FRIDAY

Would Have Reached 94 on That Day

WASHINGTON March 6—Oliver Wendell Holmes, known affectionately as the grand old man of American jurisprudence and as the "great liberal" on the bench of the United States Supreme court, died in his old red-brick home in I street at 2:15 a. m., today after a gallant battle against pneumonia.

He would have been 94 years old on Friday.

Word of his death was not unexpected since it followed a series of doleful bulletins which told of a losing fight.

The kindly old scholar, whose wit and philosophy are to be found in supreme court decisions for three decades, was genuinely popular and beloved in the capital. Since his retirement from the bench several years ago he had spent his winters here, his summers at Beverly, Mass.

Nephew at Bedside

Around him at the end were only his physicians, nurses, and a single surviving relative, Edward Holmes, a nephew. He had been kept in an oxygen tent for some days, and no visitors allowed to see him, although scores of friends called at the home daily to inquire as to his condition.

"The former justice died more peacefully than anyone I've ever seen," said Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, his chief physician.

News of his death was announced by Mark Howe, his former secretary and close associate who is a son of Mark Anthony Howe, Holmes biographer.

The funeral services will be held Friday (the day Holmes would have been 94) at All Souls Unitarian church here. Because of his service during the Civil war—he was wounded three times—burial

DODD'S STORE SAFE LOOTED

More Than $50 Stolen from Store; Window Broken by Hurling Stone

Robbers perpetrated their fourth robbery in less than a week Tuesday night when they broke into Al Dodd's store, Scioto-st., carried away and broke the cash register and looted it of between $50 and $60.

The smashed cash register was found along the railroad tracks Wednesday morning.

The robbers threw a stone through a window to gain admittance to the building. Mr. Dodd was sleeping in an adjoining room but did not hear the glass break.

The loot included three $10 bills and money of smaller denominations.

Other robberies committed recently include Barrere and Nickerson, and Davidson hardware and "Dart's" place.

Two youths were arrested by police for questioning but were released later by police.

OHIO LAWYER DIES FRIDAY

Arkansas to Take Life of Shank, Poisoner; Insanity Hearing Sought

LITTLE ROCK Ark. March 6—Deferred four times, the execution of Mark H. Shank, former Akron, Ohio attorney and convicted poisoner has been set for next Friday. It is the fifth date assigned for the execution.

Governor Futrell set the date for the electrocution following the withdrawal by the condemned man's attorney from U. S. district court of a petition asking state officials be compelled to grant a sanity hearing for their client.

Defense attorneys in withdrawing the petition from federal court had announced that they intended to appeal to the U. S. supreme court. W. T. Pate, Jr., of Little Rock, one of the defense lawyers, declared today that he would communicate with Blake C. Cook, an Ohio attorney for Shank, and the condemned man's wife before deciding on a course of action to meet the new development.

The governor in setting the new execution date took the position that Shank in the eighteen months since his conviction in December, 1933 has had ample time to act.

COURAGEOUS GIRL IS RESTING WELL

FALL RIVER, Mass., Mar. 6—Gradually returning strength diminishing pain today marked the second day of the valiant uphill struggle of ten-year-old Alyce Jane McHenry to recover from the operation which corrected her "upside down" stomach.

After another night of rest, the courageous girl from Omaha, Neb., was reported resting comfortably at Tuesday hospital today, her heart beating at a slower but steadier and stronger pulse, and her temperature declining towards normal.

GAS COMPANY MAY ASK NEW RATE TONIGHT

New Ordinance Presented at Chillicothe Asks Increase of Cent

EXPECT SAME HERE

Council's Regular Session is This Evening

Indications were today that the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. would demand of the city an increased rate at its meeting this evening or in two weeks. An ordinance increasing the rate from an average of 73 cents per thousand cubic feet to slightly more than 74 cents was offered Chillicothe council Monday and since the local rate has always been parallel with that in the Ross-co city local officials believe the gas company is ready to make a similar offer here.

Engineers reporting recently after an investigation of the Chillicothe rate said the gas company deserved a higher rate in that city. The survey cost the city $2,000, half of which has already been paid.

Asked Other Places

The utility is planning to put a similar rate into operation at Jackson, McArthur, Oak Hill, Coalton, Hamden and Wellston.

The proposed rate for Chillicothe is based on "hundreds" instead of on "thousands" and is as follows: 20 cents per 100 cu. ft. for the first 500 cu. ft.; 7 cents per 100 for the next 1,500; 6 cents per 100 for the next 3,000; 5 1/2 cents per 100 for the next 195,000; and 5 cents per 100 for all over 200,000 cu. ft. The minimum bill is $1 for the first 500 cu. ft. the same as the first step in the above rate, but after

NOTE DEMANDS RANSOM MONEY

GRAND RAPIDS, Mar. 6—Grand Rapids police were mobilized today to search for 18-year-old Helen Jean Banninga, daughter of a wealthy retired insurance man, after a ransom note was delivered to her home this morning.

The girl has been missing since last night when she went to visit friends. She did not arrive at the home of her friends, however, police learned.

A note, typewritten on plain paper, stuck in the mail box of the Banninga home, was found by the girl's father, Bert, shortly after midnight.

DEATH STRIKES FAMILY TWICE

Whisper Man, Grieving, Succumbs 20 Hours After Wife at Whisler

Death had struck the Gardner family of Whisler twice in less than a day's time, Wednesday, when Ovid L. Gardner, 79, well known resident of that vicinity, passed away.

Mrs. Gardner died at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday of pneumonia.

Grief was a contributing cause in the husband's demise.

Mrs. Gardner was a daughter of William and Sophia Bookwalter Frederick and was born March 9, 1858.

Four children, Fred of Columbus, Grace, Fannie and Marvin at home survive.

Funeral services for the wife will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Whisler Presbyterian church with Rev. Foster of Kingston officiating. Interment will be in charge of H. E. Defenbaugh and Sons.

ASHVILLE SCHOOL PROJECT DELAYED

Contemplated improvements at the Ashville high school building, an FERA project, which was to have started Monday, has been temporarily held up.

All requirements have been met by the school board, plans drawn and blue prints prepared by B. L. Davidson, who did considerable of this class of work for the Cleveland schools, where he was employed before locating in Ashville several years ago.

The work as contemplated includes digging a basement for storage under the manual training room, also shower baths and the inside painting and decorating of the rooms of the building. The funds for material to be furnished by the school board and the labor will be taken care of by the FERA.

Pending an adjustment of the relief situation between State and Federal authorities, this with other similar projects has been indefinitely postponed. This work, when started will take care of many on relief who so far have been unable to secure a place on the PWA projects now in operation.

SKELTON FOUND, MAY BE TEACHER

YOUNGSTOWN, March 6—A skeleton apparently that of a young woman who was found jack-knifed in a shallow grave in a lonely spot near Lowellville, today presented county authorities with a baffling mystery that may go back to many years ago when a Lowellville primary teacher dropped from sight while on a field trip.

The skeleton was discovered in a hillside gully yesterday by Joe Melillo of Hillsville, and his father-in-law, John Guerrieri of Lowellville, who were scouting through the gully preparing to build a pipeline in the vicinity.

HOPKINS RAPS DAVEY'S PLEA; MOVE AWAITED

Federal Chief Refuses to Relieve State of Relief Burden

HITS STATEMENTS

Political Move is Word From Capital

COLUMBUS, March 6—The problem of administering relief to 1,200,000 indigent residents of Ohio today came back to Governor Davey's own doorstep, the federal government having refused to relieve the state of the responsibility as urged by the governor.

Capital observers waited anxiously for some indication from Davey as to what his next step will be. He left the broad implication in his letter to Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, that new taxes will be necessary to make up a 15 million dollars state relief deficit unless that amount can be saved elsewhere.

Reserves Comment

Soon after Hopkins roundly criticized the governor in Washington for attempting to saddle the entire relief load of one of the most prosperous states upon the federal government, Davey was reached in a downtown hotel but reserved comment until after receiving word direct from Washington.

Meanwhile, the Senate apathetically watched in amused silence the skirmish between Davey and Hopkins. There was no indication when the upper branch of the legislature will again consider the Anderson bill to extend the life of the old state relief commission, which passed out of existence the first of March when passage of the bill was blocked momentarily.

Hopkins minced no words in lashing back at Davey for his criticism of "red tape and inefficiency" in the federal relief policies. He resented Davey making public the letter here 12 hours before it was received in Washington.

The federal administrator said Davey had put Ohio in the position of being the only state to "come here and say we are not going to do anything for our unemployed."

He said "the governor doesn't know what he is talking about" in attacking the Cleveland relief organization. This unit, Hopkins contended, was one of the most effective in the country.

"His letter is an outrageous indictment against the thousands of people who are conscientiously administering relief in Ohio, many of them voluntarily giving their time," he commented.

"I do not believe the governor's opinion of these Ohioans is representative of the great mass of residents of that state."

Time on Reports

Hopkins said "it looks like the governor wants us to send out money without adequate investigation," commenting upon the Davey assertion that Cleveland relief workers spend half their time making out reports.

The administrator keenly resented the Davey inference that much within the relief organization is done without his knowledge. "It's not so," he scoffed.

As for Davey's "thorough knowledge" of conditions among those on relief in Ohio, Hopkins pointed out that it was gathered "while campaigning for votes, not while during the state in the interest of relief."

BIBLE CLASS ELECTIONS

OFFICERS AT SHANE HOME

The Westminster Bible class ended its March meeting, Tuesday evening, at the beautiful home of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Shane in Northridge-rd.

Miss Florence Dunton, president, presided at the business session at which time election of officers took place with the following results:

Mrs. Stanley Lewis, president; Mrs. L. E. Evans, vice president; Mrs. Jack Pile, secretary; Mrs. E. E. Porter, treasurer and Mrs. Blanche Motschman, social secretary and publicity chairman.

The class completed plans for another series of book reviews to be presented the coming year.

At the close of the business session Mrs. Lewis presented Mrs. E. E. Porter, who read the book entitled, "Good-by Mr. Chips."

Members were then invited to the dining room where delectable refreshments were dispensed. Mrs. E. S. Toensemier presided at the tea table.

Mrs. Shane was assisted in extending hospitalities by the retiring officers, Miss Florence Dunton, president; Mrs. Stanley Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Althea Lucas, secretary and Mrs. Blanche Motschman, publicity chairman.

Mrs. Delano Marfield, of Columbus, who has been visiting Mrs. H. P. Folsom, Park-pl., is spending a few days at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard Raper of Columbus, and will return to the Folsom home, Sunday.

THREE DELEGATES WILL ATTEND D. A. R. CONVENTION

Mrs. Harry Dunlap, of Williamsport, Mrs. Clara Hunsicker and Mrs. Orion King, this city, will go to Cleveland, Monday, where they will attend the state convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be held Tuesday through Thursday of next week.

The three are delegates from the Pickaway Plains chapter D. A. R. Mrs. Dunlap, regent of the local chapter, and Mrs. Hunsicker, state chairman of the student loan, will give reports at the meeting.

The three delegates will be accompanied by Mrs. Robert Trimble of Mt. Sterling, who will also attend the convention.

While in Cleveland, Mrs. King will be the guest of her daughter Mrs. Milton Cayce and Mr. Cayce. Friday, enroute home, Mrs. King will attend the state assembly of the Daughters of the American Colonists in Akron.

TWO OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS AT CLUB PARTY TUESDAY

Mrs. Carl Wallace, of Dayton, and Mrs. Richard Marlowe, of Athens, were guests when Miss Zelma Hoffman, S. Court-st., entertained the members of her bridge club at her home, Tuesday evening.

Two tables of the planned diversion were in progress with trophies at the close of the game going to Miss Jeannette Bower, Mrs. Wallace and Miss Mary Roth.

Delectable refreshments were served by the hostess bringing the party to a close.

In two weeks Miss Roth will be hostess to the club.

OTTERBEIN GUILD ELECTIONS OFFICERS

At the March meeting of the Otterbein Guild of the United Brethren church, Tuesday evening, at the home of Miss Louise Goldsberry, S. Court-st., officers for the ensuing year were elected.

The session was called to order by the president, Miss Jessie Cummings and followed by prayer by Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick, who also conducted the meeting during the election, which resulted as follows:

Miss Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, president; Miss Eleanor Vandervoort, vice president; Miss Dorothy Jenkins, secretary; Miss Alice Cummings, treasurer; Miss Jessie Cummings, secretary of literature; Miss Lucille Kirkwood, secretary of stewardship; Miss Virginia Cady, secretary of thankoffering.

Miss Kirkpatrick was program leader and discussed the second chapter of the study book, "Out of the Far East." Short readings on complaints about foreigners were given by Misses Dorothy Jenkins, Margaret Long, Jessie Cummings, Virginia Cady and Lucille Kirkwood.

The program closed with a general discussion of orientals.

Lunch was served to sixteen members and guests by the hostess assisted by Misses Harriett McGath and Margaret Long.

CLUB SOCIAL SESSION HONORS MRS. DUNDRE

Complimenting their sister, Mrs. Frank Dundore, of Paoli, Pa., Misses Harriett and Mary Marfield, E. Main-st., entertained a social session of their Tuesday bridge club at their home last evening.

Garden Club Notes

By MRS. HOWARD JONES

Teach the children early in life to love flowers and to take care of them.

Spare the wild flowers. Let them grow where nature placed them. They are very shy and don't like to be transplanted.

Plan your garden now. Have you hardy perennials? Arrange some annuals, then there are perennials, which should have a place. Do you want bright colors, sweet odors, flowers suitable for house decorations? Do you want a border, early flowers, mid-season plants, late flowers? There should be a succession if you have room. If you are limited in space the choice should be more carefully made. Don't neglect the old-fashioned flowers our grandmothers loved, iris, fox, bleeding heart, garden heliotrope, four-o'clocks, bachelor's button and many others.

There are so many beautiful hardy perennials which, once started, repay a hundred fold a little attention. Then there are those flowers, which dried, may be formed into winter bouquets. A few zinnias will give you pleasure for a long time. Their color are brilliant and the flowers when cut last a long time.

Strangers driving through a town are attracted by flowers and shrubbery in the yard. Vines grow rapidly and cover unsightly buildings or any object that is unpleasing.

Nothing repays a little effort more liberally than a garden be it only a small one.

Put the children to work. Most

BASEBALL SQUADS PREPARE FOR TOURNAMENTS

Many Favorites to Fall by Wayside In Own District; No Five Favored

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Basketball squads from Class A high schools in Ohio will see tournament play for the first time this week-end with the holding of the sectional meets in a score of cities and their performances will be a forerunner of what cage fadom will see at the statewide finals here March 21, 22 and 23.

There are few high schools with outstanding records this season but uniquely that may be due to the fact that there are a bunch of unusually strong quietists in the state. Either that or the teams are unusually weak.

Dayton Roosevelt is the defending Class A champion but there is a great possibility that it may not even survive the sectional meet this week-end. It has experienced a lot of defeats this year at the hands of only comparatively strong caliber.

Offhand some of the stronger Class A teams picked at random, seem to be Logan, Pomeroy, St. Clairsville, Coshocton, Dover, Canton-McKinley, Alliance, Akron Central and Akron South, Defiance, Marion, Salem, Sandusky, Fremont, Ross and Bellefontaine. Some of the schools mentioned, like Logan and Pomeroy, and Coshocton and Dover are in the same districts and will be eliminated before the finals.

Large high schools from Columbus, Youngstown, Cincinnati and Cleveland also must be figured in the race.

BALDWIN-WALLACE WINS STATE TITLE

CLEVELAND, March 6.—Ward Powell, one of the nation's leading scorers, and his yellow-jacketed teammates of Baldwin-Wallace, sat atop the Ohio conference basketball throne today.

A 50 to 34 victory over John Carroll last night, combined with Mount Union's surprised 52 to 32 walloping of Muskingum, pretender to the throne, gave the Yellow Jackets undisputed possession of the league championship.

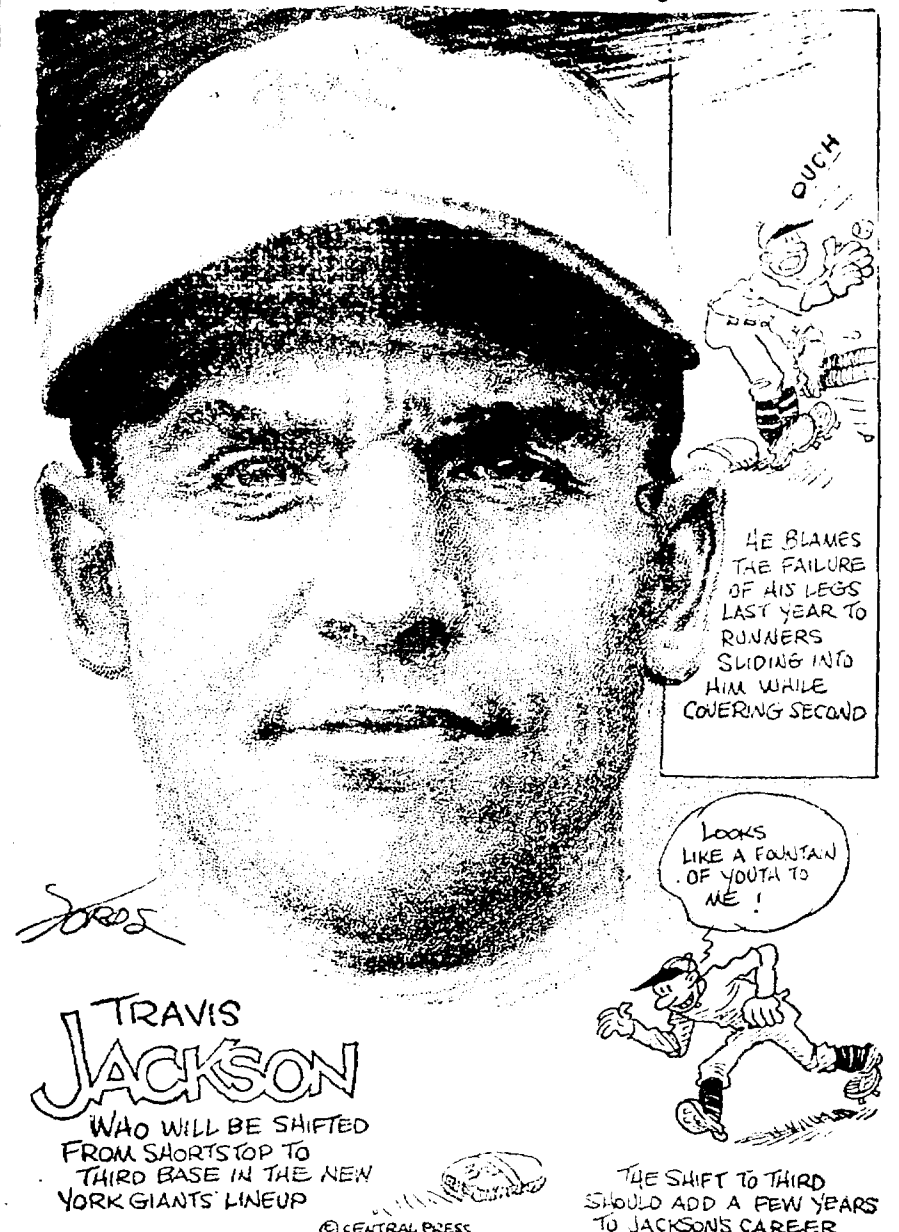

Paced, as usual, by Powell, the Jackets rode a 24 to 17 lead at the half. They were never threatened during the final period. Powell netted 16 points to end the season with a record of 282 markers.

The victory gave Baldwin-Wallace a season record of nine wins and two losses for an average of .818. Muskingum, Akron and Marietta tied for second place with .800.

The title is Baldwin-Wallace's second championship in two years. Last season the Jackets won the Cleveland big four title.

Almost a third of the students enrolled in the colleges of agriculture and home economics in the 13 central states are former members of 4-H clubs. This proportion is almost four times as great as it was eight years ago.

County Plan Arranged

A plan to schedule all the Pickaway-co basketball teams so that each will play every other team during the next cage season was approved by the athletic committee Tuesday evening meeting in Supt. McDowell's office. On the committee are Mr. McDowell, Harold Costlow of Atlanta, John Barton of Scioto, and Ray Sponsler of Walnut.

Herald Gives Trophy

No award to the team finishing in first place at the end of the regular season is planned but The Herald will give a trophy to be held for one year by the top team. By being on top the league three consecutive years a school will retain permanent possession. The offer was accepted by the committee. Although definite plans were arranged at the Tuesday meeting it will be necessary to have the approval of all superintendent of the county before it can be put in operations.

DIXIE HOWELL TO JOIN DETROIT NINE

LAKELAND, Fla., March 6.—The Detroit Tiger camp was all aflutter today awaiting the arrival of Miltard (Dixie) Howell, sensational University of Alabama footballer, who yesterday signed a contract with the Tigers. Howell is due in sometime late today.

In the meantime, the pitchers and catchers in camp are in such good condition that a four inning practice game was played yesterday. It ended in a tie, with Manager Cochrane scoring the tying run in the third inning on Cy Perkins' double.

THREE COUNTY TEAMS PAIRED IN DISTRICT B

Meet Marion-Co Team, Rosedale and Claridon at Westerville

The strength of teams paired against the Pickaway-co entrants in the district class B tournament is not known.

The championship Darby-type team will tangle with the No. 3 representative of Marion-co, its identity not yet announced.

Scioto-wp, the runner-up, will face Rosedale, while Walnut-type meets Claridon.

Other teams in the district are Johnstown, Liberty Union, Groveport, Ohio Deaf, Watkins, two Delaware-co teams, three Marion-co teams, Ostrander, Raymond, two Knox-co schools, Lancaster St. Marys, Monroe-twp Madison-co, Pataskala, Upper Arlington, Thurston, Magnetic Springs, Reynoldsburg, Hilliards.

The tournament opens at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the Otterbein college gym, Westerville.

One of the most interesting tournaments of the state is conducted at Athens with Portsmouth, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Chillicothe, Washington C. H., Athens, Logan, Nelsonville and other teams taking part. The pairings have not yet been announced.

Chillicothe closes its season Friday at home against the strong Marietta team.

ceived the strategy of sending the bill back to committee in the hope that the country would rush to the President's support. They expected the Senate to be deluged with re-buking messages forcing it to reverse itself.

It was a neat maneuver—except for one thing.

The country did not rise to the President's support.

Senators received some telegrams and a small amount of mail, but sentiment was split about fifty-fifty.

PAROCHIAL AID IS FAVORED IN STATE SENATE

Advocates Face Harder Fight In House; Plan Trading System

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Sensing victory in the state senate, proponents of the parochial school bill today turned to Ohio colleges for aid in marshalling enough votes in the house of representatives to pass the measure before the legislature adjourns this spring.

Sen. John A. Davis (D) of Cleveland, author of the measure, today predicted the bill would be passed by the senate by a "comfortable margin." He said proponents of the bill have the assurance of 19 or 20 votes of the 32 members of the senate.

Unless 16 more votes can be found in the house, however, the measure has little chance of becoming a law, Sen. Davis admitted. He claimed approximately 52 house votes. There are 134 members of the house and 68 are needed to pass the bill if all are present.

Many executives of colleges in Ohio are in favor of the measure, which would provide state aid for free tuition schools and colleges, Davis claims, but in spite of the public stand taken against the proposal.

Davis bill, which is to be considered by senate finance committee, would provide $300,000 for aid to parochial and other free tuition schools and $200,000 for aid to Ohio colleges not at present aided by the state.

Pointing out that many colleges in the state are confronted with serious financial difficulties, Davis contends that his bill, said to be an administration measure, would give the state department of education power to distribute up to $50 per student among colleges.

PROCLAMATION BY MAYOR CADY

The Federal Housing Administration has designated March as better Housing Month in Ohio.

Sectional rallies will be held at which Ohioans will be afforded an opportunity to assemble with their neighbors in various groups of through this County and City and manifest their interest in hastening economic recovery through operation of the National Housing Act.

Major purposes of this credit legislation enacted by Congress include: Making available liberal financing plans for modernization of existing homes and other buildings or construction of new ones. Creating a demand for labor and materials that will substitute payrolls for relief.

Turning a huge volume of money into all channels of trade so it may spread prosperity among all our communities.

Therefore I deem it proper to approve by proclamation the co-operative undertaking to which Better Housing Month Summons us.

In doing so I urge my fellow citizens of the City of Circleville, to attend all the Housing meetings that will be held in this City or nearby localities participate.

Also avail yourselves of the credit provisions of the National Housing Act if circumstances will permit you to do so.

Invest in proper modernization or new construction by utilizing cash resources if they are at your disposal.

FLORISTS PLAN SPRING SHOW

Columbus Unit Meets at Brehmer's; Many Visitors Take Part

Members of the Columbus unit of the Ohio Flower Growers and Retailers association were entertained at the Brehmer Greenhouses, Tuesday evening.

A meeting was held during which plans for the spring flower show to be held at Memorial hall, Columbus, were discussed.

Thirty-eight members were present and after the meeting, refreshments were served by Hanley's caterers.

In addition to Columbus florists, June Inlay of Zanesville, Frank and Charles Tomastich and Carl Brehmer of Chillicothe, Richard Winters of Delaware and Mr. Rhodes of Westerville were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brehmer, N. Court-st., had as their dinner guests, Tuesday evening, at their home Prof. Alex Laurie, head of the department of floriculture at Ohio State university; G. H. Poesch in charge of extension work in the department of floriculture at Ohio State, and Walter J. Engle, president of the National Chrysanthemum Society of America.

ROBINSON TO HAVE PART ON PROGRAM

WOOSTER, March 6.—John Robinson, 315 S. Pickaway-st., Circleville will have charge of the Biology-Botany department exhibit showing special materials which will be a part of the fifth annual All Science Open House which is expected to bring 600 scholastic visitors to the College of Wooster campus March 9.

Over 130 students are assisting with the exhibits in this department. Other groups are helping demonstrate experiments in physics, geology, and chemistry.

The object of Wooster's All Science Open House is to acquaint high school teachers and students with the methods and practical uses made of scientific experimentation.

Wooster's scholastic visitors will be guests of the college at a luncheon at noon. They will also be given tickets to the Ashland-Wooster basketball game for that evening, the final game of the season for both teams.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels and this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything.

What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 4% of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped animal, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, erodes and scalds the tongue in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—Carter's. O-1964, C.M.C.

ASSESSMENT ON ADJOINING LAND AT END

Gas Tax Revenue to be Used As Result of House Passing Bill

COLUMBUS, March 6.—Gas tax revenue will be used to relieve adjoining property owners of road assessments in municipalities as well as townships and counties if the Armbruster bill which passed in the House, 106 to 14, is concurred in by the Senate and approved by the governor.

Since 1929 no special assessments have been made for that purpose, but prior levies, in some instances as high as $18 an acre, continue until 1941 unless set aside by the legislature.

Before the bill by Rep. C. C. Armbruster (D) Napoleon, was amended to include levies against city property, it was estimated 28 million dollars would be saved by real estate owners in rural areas. With the amendment in the bill, some members estimated the amount is doubled.

Serial bonds issued prior to 1929 for road building purposes would be refunded under the Armbruster bill the new bonds to be retired over a period of 15 years from gas tax receipts. No road assessments already paid would be refunded.

SOME 13 BILLION MILES DRIVEN BY OHIOANS IN 1934

The average motor travel of every person in Ohio was approximately 1,900 miles during 1934, it is estimated by the Traffic Bureau of the State Highway Department.

In all, some 13,376,570,396 miles were travelled by Ohio motorists last year. This estimate was based on the 955,469,314 gallons of gasoline sold in the state, with 14 miles to the gallon computed as a fair average.

On the basis of figures showing nearly 2,000 traffic fatalities for the state in 1934, one Ohioan was killed in an automobile accident for approximately every 6,700,000 miles travelled.

The 1,453,433 passenger cars and 159,949 commercial cars registered last year travelled an average of 8,290 miles.

COLUMBUS, March 6.—The annual livestock show of the Ohio State university department of animal husbandry will be held Saturday. A girls' riding contest and a colt show will be included in the event.

All of the major agricultural adjustment programs of AAA are designed to bring about increases over the 1934 production.

would be up to the association to ascertain that all merchants give full value.

To block discount schemes, suit clubs and such other plans.

"There are scores of advantages in a co-operative association formed by retailers," the speaker went on. "The organization should be formed within your Chamber of Commerce."

Discuss Sales Tax

At the conclusion of his talk on the merchants association, Mr. Dittmer delved into the sales tax problem. The Ohio Council of Retail Merchants fought the sales tax for a long while until it finally became an inevitable necessity after the tax limitation on real estate was cut to 10 mills. Dittmer lauded the sales tax as the best one in operation in the nation from the retail merchant's standpoint.

"Most sales taxes," he declared, "are based on gross sales of the merchant with he in turn being given a chance to get the tax back from his customer in any manner he saw fit. Ohio's plan is a direct one to the consumer."

He lauded the sincerity of Governor Davey in his effort to work out a reduction in governmental expense if at all possible. "It is not even certain the legislature will accept the report of Col. Sherrill and the other investigators," Mr. Dittmer said, "but Mr. Davey deserves praise for attempting to do the right thing."

EASY VICTORY

KANSAS CITY, Kan.—George E. McDonald was elected state treasurer with no more campaign expenses than the filing fee. He was the only candidate for a two months unexpired term. He will receive $600 salary for the period and the state will have to spend $800 for his bond.

Although the average January farm price of the 14 basic commodities included in the Farm Act was 106 per cent of the pre-war level, "parity" prices as defined in the act are not yet reached. Because prices of commodities which the farmer buys have risen to 126 per cent, farm prices are still 20 points below "parity."

HOLMES, GREAT

will be in Arlington cemetery. The honorary pallbearers will be members of the U. S. Supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Mr. Hughes was deeply affected by the death of his former colleague on the bench. He was among the first to call at the I street house Saturday when it became known the former justice was dying but was not permitted to enter the sickroom because of the patient's weakness.

Was Great Jurist

Holmes achieved a reputation as one of the world's greatest jurists largely through the thoughts expressed in his opinions dissenting from the majority of the supreme court.

During his long career on the bench of the nation's highest tribunal, he frequently was in the minority. Yet his dissenting opinions in many of the most important cases reaching the court are accepted almost as text-books by many lawyers, writers and legislators.

Always a champion of liberal interpretation of the Constitution and known as a champion of human rights, Justice Holmes expressed in many conditions a philosophy not often found in expositions on the law.

Born in Boston, March 8, 1841, he was reared in an aristocratic famous Oliver Wendell Holmes, atmosphere. His father was the author and philosopher. He graduated from Harvard in 1861, and with other graduates entered the Union army.

During the Civil war, Justice Holmes became successively Lieutenant and captain, and held brevets as major, lieutenant-colonel and colonel. He was wounded three times, being shot through the breast at Balls Bluff in 1862, through the neck at Antietam and in the heel at Mary's Heights.

Edited Law Review

After the war, he took his law degree at Harvard, published the twelfth edition of Kent's commentaries and was editor of the American law review for three years.

He published his book, "The Common Law," in 1881, which first established his reputation as a lawyer extraordinary. Other books were published before he practised law in Boston from 1873 to 1882.

After a short period as professor in Harvard, he was named justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts in 1882. He served in that post until named to the supreme court by President Theodore Roosevelt. He took his seat December 8, 1902.

He resigned from the high court January 12, 1932.

At the time of Justice Holmes' appointment to the supreme court, some criticism was voiced because he was 61 years old. The voluntary retirement age is 70. Justice Holmes, however, lived to become not only the oldest man who sat on the court but its senior in service.

GAS COMPANY

the first 500 cu. ft., the present rate is a flat 60 cents net per thousand, or 6 cents per 100 compared to the proposed rate.

The comparative figures show that all consumers using less than 8,000 cu. ft. per month would have to pay a higher rate than at present; those using 8,000 would pay the same as now; those using more than 8,000 cu. ft. per month would benefit under the proposed scale. However, the company admits that more than 70 per cent of the local consumers use 5,000 cu. ft. or less a month so relatively few would be benefitted by the proposal.
